Dear Parents and Carers

Show Racism the Red Card

Last term, we took part in Show Racism the Red Card's 'Wear Red Day'. Show Racism the Red Card is an anti-racism education charity, established in England in January 1996 to harness the high-profile nature of footballers as anti-racist role models to educate against racism throughout society.

Over the last few weeks, the children have undertaken the following anti-racist work:

- Taken part in a 'Crew Time' session regarding respecting our differences and celebrating our commonalities.
- Joined in assemblies about anti-racism
- Taken part in PSHE lessons about respect, being an ally against racism and for older children understanding the meaning of a hate crime.

However, we recognise that a day of action is only a small part of the work against racism. Over recent years, we have worked to diversify our curriculum to ensure our curriculum offer represents life in modern Britain. This includes a range of high-quality, diverse texts as part of our reading curriculum.

In addition, we have created an Anti-Racism policy which outlines the school's anti-racist approach. This is attached to this letter and can also be found on the school website.

We would also encourage you to discuss this important issue with your children at home. You may find this resource from the NSPCC helpful: https://www.nspcc.org.uk/advice-for-families/children-race-racism-racial-bullying/

Yours sincerely,

Miss Doherty
